Review of First-Finger Words

Type the following drill. Say each letter as you strike the key.

fur fun gun gum guy buy but hut jut vug
fur fun gun gum guy buy but hut jut vug
fur fun gun gum guy buy but hut jut vug
fur fun gun gum guy buy but hut jut vug

Second-Finger Reaches

Put your fingers through the following motions without striking the keys:

Your second finger on your left hand strikes d on the home row, reaches up slightly left for e, and below the home row slightly right for c.

Your second finger on your right hand strikes k on the home row, reaches up slightly left to i, and slightly right on bottom row for comma (,).

Second-Finger Words

Type the drill as it appears. Say the letters as you strike the keys. Try to increase your speed each time you repeat a word. Relax briefly before each new word.

This drill contains all the letters struck by your second fingers.

kid kid red red red red red cue cue cue cue cue my,
my, my, my,

Check your accuracy against the book.

Review of Second-Finger Words

Type each word once as below.

Force your mind to concentrate on each stroke as you type.

Do not look at your fingers or at the screen as you type; this will hold back your progress in typing automatically by touch.

jim dim kid red cue my,

Drill on First and Second-Finger Words

Before typing each new word for the first time, put your fingers through the motions of typing that word without hitting the keys.

After typing a word once, try to speed up your responses on each succeeding effort.

Pause to relax briefly before each new word.

You will now practice all the reaches made by your first and second fingers. Notice that the reaches are getting easier to recall. More and more practice will soon make them automatic.
